

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—Leaders of the New York Stock Exchange have been conferring privately with the administration regarding the selection of a new head of the Exchange who would do for stock trading what Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis has done for baseball.

Heading the list of men under consideration is O. Max Gardner, former governor of North Carolina and member of the Democratic national committee.

Stock Exchange members are looking for a man who has the confidence not only of the White House but of the country. Their present plan for reorganizing is the most important thing that has happened in the financial world in years. It is what the securities and exchange commission has been urging for a long time—namely, a self-policing of the stock exchange.

In other words, the exchange itself would seek to cut out rookery of customers and establish confidence in its own dealings. The plan would make the New York exchange much more of a national institution.

So far, Max Gardner comes closest to filling the qualifications for czar of Wall Street. He had a liberal record as governor of North Carolina, one of the now dwindling "Before Chicago" boosters for Roosevelt who still is called into the White House. At the same time he understands the problems of the stock exchange.

Other embryo czars being considered are Embury Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, who is favored by his old associate at Yale, SEC chairman Douglas; also General Robert E. Wood, head of Sears, Roebuck; General Frank Hines, head of the Veterans' Bureau; and last but not least General Hugh (Hump) Johnson.

The job will pay between $75,000 and $100,000.

REVOCATION OF UMWA CHARTER ACCOMPLISHED

Miami, Fla., Feb. 7.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor executive council announced today it had revoked the charter of the United Mine Workers of America. At the same time the council revoked charters of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and the Federation of Flat Glass Workers of America. A resolution adopted Friday but not announced until today said the A. F. of L. regarded the unions' activities in the Committee for Industrial Organization as "an actual and complete withdrawal from the federation."

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Scattered returns in what may resolve into a struggle between the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization for command of the International Typographical Union, one of America's oldest labor organizations, were being received at the union's headquarters today. Local unions are deciding whether to support Charles P. Howard for re-election as president or to line up for C. M. Baker of San Francisco. Howard is secretary of the Committee for Industrial Organization. Baker has urged that the union keep its tie with the A. F. of L.

Woodruff Randolph of Chicago, secretary-treasurer of the union, said results of the voting would not be tabulated until all endorsements had been received. No announcement of the results could be made until early in March, he said.

German Clergyman Protests Charges

Berlin, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The Rev. Martin Niemöller protested bitterly in a 45-minute speech today against the decision of three pre-judging judges to bar the public from his trial on grave charges growing out of his unyielding opposition to Nazi church policies. "Why am I here under the accusation of a traitor?" demanded the black-clad Protestant churchman, who served in the World War as a submarine commander. "I've done nothing to justify such charges."

"You'll find that out later," the state attorney retorted.

The accusations made against the Rev. Niemöller, if proven, are tantamount to treason under the stringent Nazi laws. They alleged malignant attacks upon the state and party, continuous misuse of the pulpit for political purposes and public incitation to disobey state laws.

FIRESTONE DIED TODAY IN FLORIDA

Health Believed To Be Improved This Winter

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Harvey S. Firestone, the rubber magnate of Akron, O., died at his winter home here early today.

Announcement of Mr. Firestone's death was made by his son, Russell A. Firestone, in the following statement:

"Harvey S. Firestone passed away in his sleep early this morning at his home here. The funeral will be held in Akron later this week."

The cause of death, it was learned authoritatively, was coronary artery thrombosis—formation of a clot in the coronary artery, one of the two main vessels carrying blood from the heart.

Mr. Firestone was 69 years old December 20. He had suffered from illness intermittently in recent years but his health was good when he arrived on his birthday at his ocean-front winter sojourn at his ocean-front estate.

The rubber manufacturer held an optimistic outlook on life. His last interview, on his arrival here, reflected that trait.

He said business conditions were "not as good as they were a year ago" but attributed that condition "in large degree to government regulation of industry."

Must Abandon Regulation
"If I want to regain prosperity we must do a right-about face, on regulation," he said. "In other words, prosperity still depends on two fundamentals—work and production, and these in turn are dependent on the release of capital."

"The first incentive toward this release would be the repeal of the undistributed profits tax and the repeal of the capital gains tax."

The gray-haired, blue-eyed industrialist spent the days quietly at his extensive estate. His principal diversion in later years had been putting a golf ball about a practice green on the grounds. Another favorite recreation was watching his children and their friends play tennis on the private courts.

Mrs. Firestone, the former Ida-bella Smith of Jackson, Mich., whom he married in 1895, was believed to have been at the bedside. She did not accompany her husband when he arrived with his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Firestone, a senior at Smith college, but joined him after spending Christmas in Akron with their nine grandchildren. They have five sons.

Mr. Firestone had taken an automobile ride yesterday afternoon with Mrs. M. E. Ake, a niece, and apparently was in good health at the time.

After dinner, however, he complained of indigestion and a doctor was called.

Interest manifested by the people of Detroit in a rubber-tired buggy, which he was demonstrating, convinced Firestone of the dawning of a new industry.

Merit Recognized
That was in the early '90s. The noiseless feature of the vehicle at once appealed to all. Some with broader vision of the possibilities of the new idea realized the shock-absorbing qualities of the rubber tire as compared with the steel band in general use on the wheels of all vehicles.

Up to the time of the demonstration, Firestone was concerned about the rubber tires principally as a means of selling more buggies, in which he then was engaged as sales manager. But it occurred to him that the success of rubber tires on buggies were merely a forerunner of their use on wagons and other vehicles, and he decided to devote himself exclusively to tires.

He established his business in Chicago and with the advent of

Humane Officers Open New World To Child Kept in Room Six Years

Uniontown, Pa., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Little Alice Harris played with strange blocks and dolls today in a hospital room—a new world to the child who, humane officers said, had been confined five years in the storage room of a farmhouse.

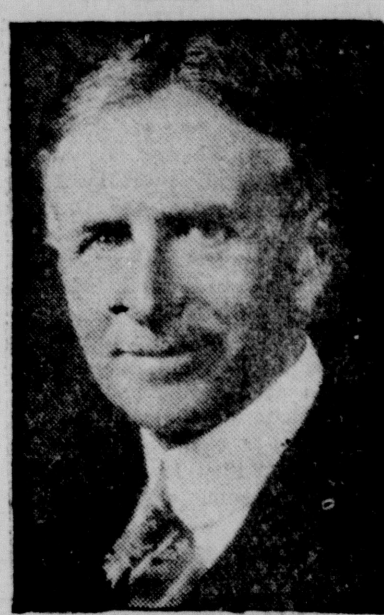

Although crippled by rickets and malnutrition and unable to walk or talk, physicians expressed belief the 6-year-old red-head would grow normally.

"With proper care, the child should develop into a normal healthy girl within a year," Dr. James E. Van Gilder said.

Meanwhile, Justice of the Peace Fred Munk arranged a hearing today in Connellsville for the girl's unmarried mother, Martha Harris, and her grandfather, 79-year-old David Harris, on charges of neglecting the child.

GHOST CHASER CHOOSES NEGRO SLAVES' SHADES

Benton, Ill., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Ghost chaser Hickman Whittington chose the wailing shades of Negro slaves today as the first to be banished by his self-advised de-haunting system.

Whittington said moans had been reported around an old whipping post at the rear of a 104-year-old "Slave house" not far away in Gallatin county, and announced he would test his secret Biblical formula on the moans "whenever the weather permits."

The "slave house" is a ramshackle, three-story frame building near Equality, Ill., erected in 1834. Legend links it with the "underground railway," a system of sanctuaries which gave protection to Negro slaves fleeing bondage in Kentucky, 15 miles away.

In addition to the whipping post, legend labels as a "bucking gag" or rack a scaffold-like frame nearby, and says recalcitrant Negroes were punished there before the place became a slave hideaway.

The 68-year-old banshee baiter whose claims have brought him offers of "jobs" in several states, brushed up on his procedure as soon as he heard of the moaning, and vowed to "do something about it."

Whittington said his plans would be secret so no one would learn his method or pursue the departing spirits.

Mrs. Crawford Dies At Franklin Grove

Mrs. Milton Crawford, 84, passed away at her home in Franklin Grove yesterday morning after a week's illness. Her husband, who passed away about 8 years ago, was at one time supervisor of China township and a member of the Lee county court house building committee.

Mrs. Crawford is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Anna E. Crawford of Franklin Grove and one son, Milton A. of Dixon.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:20 at the home. Rev. Ralph M. Dreger of the M. E. church will officiate and burial will be at Franklin Grove.

Truck Driver Says He Was Abducted

Smith Center, Kas., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Louis Brockhoff, Defiance, Ohio, told officers today he had been abducted Friday by two men who commandeered his truck near Defiance and forced him to accompany them on a long drive which ended early Sunday with his release unharmed near here.

Brockhoff told police he was held up eight miles from Defiance by two men. He said he was forced to drive them in the truck to Peoria, Ill., where the men obtained an automobile. They bound him and took $70 in cash from him.

Harris Ordered the Child Kept in an upstairs room of the Harris farm home as punishment for his 27-year-old daughter, also the mother of another child. The officer said an aged neighbor was the father of both children.

Connellsville, Pa., Feb. 7.—(AP)—New charges of "cruelty to an infant" were brought today against the mother and grandfather of little Alice Harris, Fayette county's "confinement baby."

The couple—Martha Harris, 27, and her father, David Harris, 69, waived hearing and were held for court by Justice of the Peace Fred Munk.

M. J. Teater of the Western Pennsylvania Humane society filed the new charges after conferring with District Attorney James A. Reilly.

Bond of $1,000 was provided for both Miss Harris and her father.

CHIEF STATES NO ALLIANCES FOR U.S. NAVY

Expects to Solve Its Problems Without Commitments

Washington, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, told the House naval committee today that the navy expects to solve its defense problems "without alliances" and has no "foreign commitments."

Asserting he wished to clear up any misunderstanding that may have arisen from his previous assertions, the navy's highest ranking officer said:

"The navy has no thought of obtaining assistance from any other nation. It has no thought of giving assistance in the solution of the problems of any other nation. It has no foreign commitments. There are no understandings regarding assistance to be given, or received."

No Talk of Assistance

"There has been no talk of giving, or receiving, assistance."

Leahy's refusal last week to disclose publicly the nature of discussions Captain Robert Ingersoll, head of the navy war plans division, had recently with the British admiralty had brought speculation in congressional circles as to a possible understanding with Britain.

Leahy's categorical denial of any commitment to any foreign nation was given in testimony on legislation to authorize a $800,000,000 naval expansion program.

Meanwhile, Secretary Hull's expressed willingness to take part in any general arms reduction aroused widespread interest in the capital today, because it followed closely his demand that Japan disclose her naval building program.

Amid unofficial reports that Tokyo officials had decided against complying, Hull said in a radio address last night:

"While compelled, in a world in which increased construction of armaments is a regrettable fact, to render adequate our military and naval establishment, we are ready at any time to join with other nations in a common effort to bring about a general limitation and reduction of armaments."

The secretary of state spoke of "the alarming disintegration of all international relationships which the world has recently witnessed."

"Solemn contractual obligations have been lightly brushed aside in an increasing number of instances," he said.

"The most fundamental tenets of international law have been flouted with incredible disdain. Resort to armed force is again emerging both as a method of settling international disputes and as an instrument of predatory policy."

Hull on Saturday had requested Japan to make known by February 20 any plans to build battleships above the 35,000-ton limit set by the 1936 London naval treaty.

JAPS DECLARE "NO PLAN"

Tokyo, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The Japanese foreign office spokesman declared today that Japan "has no plan for construction" of 43,000-ton battleships, as has been "widely reported abroad."

Japanese navy officials, however, were reported to have decided against disclosing details of the Japanese naval-building program to the United States and Great Britain.

Domei (Japanese news agency) said such a decision was made at a conference of the officials and added that it conformed to established policy.

The United States and Great Britain asked in formal notes Saturday that Japan inform them by February 20 of any plans to build battleships exceeding the 35,000-ton limit set by the 1936 naval treaty among the two powers and France, which sent a similar request.

The notes said the powers would be forced to invoke clauses of the treaty permitting them to compete with any other power if Japan failed to give assurances she would adhere to the treaty she had refused to sign.

The communications also stated Japanese failure to answer the requests for information would be taken as an admission that Japan was building battleships of more than 35,000 tons.

To Send Formal Replies

Domei said that after necessary arrangements were made between the foreign and navy ministers, the Japanese government would send formal replies to Washington and London prior to February 20.

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota said in Parliament today the government had reached no decision as to now it would reply to the formal requests.

"The foreign office is consulting the authorities concerned about the reply," said Hirota, "but there has

Dixon Telephone Co. Is Ordered to Give Details Concerning Pitcher Suit

Judge Edwards Allows Motion of Defendant

Attorney Robert L. Bracken, representing former Manager Louis Pitcher of the Dixon Home Telephone Co., today filed a motion before Judge Harry Edwards in the circuit court, which was allowed, requesting more specific information in the "padded pay-roll" allegations made in a suit started by Chapman & Cutler, Chicago attorneys, several days ago. In his motion, argued before Judge Edwards in the circuit court today, Attorney Bracken requested the following specific information:

"To show the date that the first alleged 'padded pay roll' was approved by the defendant as general manager of plaintiff corporation, which contains names of persons who were not employed by plaintiff company or who were employed by plaintiff company but not for the full period of time set forth in said alleged 'padded pay roll.'"

"To show the dates and amounts of the checks and the names of the parties to whom said checks were issued and signed by defendant as general manager of plaintiff in payment of services purported to be rendered by persons who either were not employed or not employed for the full period of time which appeared on said alleged 'padded pay roll.'"

INSURGENTS GAIN RAPIDLY NEAR TERUEL

Hendaye, France, at the Spanish insurgents have captured 35 villages and gained control of the entire Sierra Palomera range north of Teruel in a new offensive to cut off Catalonia from the rest of government Spain.

Dispatches from insurgent headquarters at Salamanca said today that retreating government forces had abandoned 3,900 dead on the field of battle and 3,000 more government soldiers had been taken prisoner.

The insurgents said they had advanced about 14 miles and conquered approximately 230 square miles of territory since the start of their smashing offensive Saturday.

General Francisco Franco was driving eastward toward the Mediterranean coast with all the force at his command, fighting night and day to dismember government Spain. His advance guard was last reported with 75 miles of the sea.

Advancing on a 25-mile front, the insurgents threatened the city of Montalban and the government's main supply road from Barcelona and other coastal points.

Just west of Teruel the government reported a successful attack in the Muela de Teruel sector which gained a position known as Hill 1040. The government said this position gave it control of the area immediately west of Teruel.

An insurgent spokesman estimated the government had lost 15,000 men—killed, wounded, taken prisoner or deserted—during the three days of the offensive north of Teruel.

With the receding stage of water this morning, the truck returned to the city station.

Campbell Issues Formal Call For State Convention

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Bruce A. Campbell, Democratic state chairman, issued today the formal call for the Democratic state convention to convene in the armory here at noon on Friday, April 29.

Campbell acted on his legal authority and did not call a meeting of the Democratic state committee, which has been split between the Kelly-Nash and Horner camps. Politicians have speculated whether the committee might be called together for the controversial subject of endorsing slates.

The law provides for both party conventions to be held April 29, although Republican leaders plan to postpone their meeting. The county conventions are scheduled for April 25.

Anna Marie Hahn Loses Fight to Escape Death Sentence in Chair

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, convicted poison slayer, lost her fight in the Ohio court of appeals today to escape a sentence of death in the electric chair. Three judges of the court concurred that she had "had a fair trial."

In a 16-page opinion, Judges Simon Ross, Francis Hamilton and Stanley Matthews wrote:

"We find x x x that no error has intervened to her prejudice."

Mrs. Hahn was convicted November 6 of the death by poison of Jacob Wagner, one of four elderly acquaintances of the German-born blonde to die in what the state contended was a scheme to "murder for profit."

She is under sentence to die on March 10.

PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDERING COMELY WIDOW

Morristown, Pa., Feb. 7.—(AP)—In a surprise move, Wendell Forest Bowers entered a plea of guilty today to the charge that he murdered comely Mrs. Wilma V. Carpenter, 38-year-old widow.

Previously, although he has thrice confessed, counsel and relatives of the "problem youth," had indicated he would fight the case.

The guilty plea means the evidence now will be heard by the court without jury to fix the degree of guilt and the penalty.

State policemen, ordered to "prevent this trial from becoming a circus," had barred the doors against upwards of 600 would-be spectators milling in the corridors and at the courthouse doors.

Giving a dramatic turn to the sudden twist of events, the 20-year-old defendant himself personally voiced the guilty plea.

Bowers, who had been released from the state reformatory a short time before, entered the home of Mrs. Carpenter on December 13 for the purpose of robbery, officers said. He found no one at home.

Bowers, in a statement, said he found liquor and a .38 calibre pistol. Mrs. Carpenter returned accompanied by Miss Mary Griffin, 22, employed by the widow in the latter's beauty shop.

Bowers said he fought with Mrs. Carpenter and finally shot her. He also beat Miss Griffin and attempted to attack her.

Martin Klingebiel Passed Away Sunday

(Telegraph Special Service)

Ashton, Fe. 7.—Martin Klingebiel passed away at his home here on Sunday evening at 10 o'clock. Had he lived until the 23rd of this month he would have been 83 years of age. Mr. Klingebiel was a highly respected citizen of the village and for many years was caretaker of the high school building. He leaves to mourn his departure his wife, three daughters and four sons.

Residence Damaged

A story frame residence belonging to P. A. Clark at 212 West Boyd street, was badly damaged when back water caused a large section of the cement block foundation to collapse. The O. O. Burns cleaning establishment at 116 North Peoria avenue has moved into one of the rooms of the new Abt building where it is to be permanently located.

Saturday evening at 10 o'clock the water attained a height of almost six inches above the all-time high water level but a heavy ice gorge in the west part of the city gave way before the heavy flow of water and the stage dropped about four feet in a short time. The ice began flowing and the river cleared rapidly east and north of Grand Detour.

Reports today indicated heavy ice gorges in Rock river west of Dixon. At Sterling the stage of water raised 27 inches in 30 minutes just before 9 o'clock this morning. Three heavy gorges exist at Sterling, one between the two dams, one between the lower dam

THINK CREST OF FLOOD IN DIXON PASSED

Sterling - Rock Falls and Places West in Danger Today

BULLETIN

At 2 P. M. today the stage of Rock river at Dixon had not changed since 10 o'clock this morning, according to a report from the office of Charles Findley, system operator of the I. N. U. Co. The stage of water here, which had risen 15 inches since midnight, was holding steady and the same condition existed north to Rockford.

Locally, it was believed that the highest stage had been reached and that Sterling and Rock Falls were threatened with a serious flood condition. Reports from the War Department engineers' office at Rock Island at noon indicated that Rock river was a solidly packed ice field from Moline to a point just west of Sterling. This it was stated, presented an alarming condition at Sterling and Rock Falls. Another ice gorge, several miles in length had formed near the Nelson bridge and extended up stream.

At the lower hydro plant of the I. N. U. Co. in Sterling the water was within six inches of the floor of the building, and was continuing to rise.

Dixon was a mecca for sightseers over Sunday, thousands viewing the flood condition of Rock river. Throngs assembled Saturday night on both sides of the river and watched the ice and flood water until a late hour. For a time Saturday night it was feared that traffic on the Lincoln highway through Dixon would be entirely cut off, with the closing of the Galena avenue bridge and the back water from Rock river which overflowed North Peoria avenue for about 500 feet the water attaining its deepest point at West Boyd street.

Mayor William V. Slothower remained on the scene from early Saturday evening until about 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and placed police at River street on the south side and Everett street on the north side where only necessary traffic was permitted to use the Peoria avenue bridge. State Officers Mahan and Flach were on duty throughout the night handling congested traffic. On East River street at several points the water rose to street level and ice was forced back onto the roadway.

American radio channel was to penalize it for the Mae West broadcast.

Two channels were given General Electric, which is new in the broadcasting business, two also were given World Wide Broadcasting of Boston, a relatively small concern, and one channel remained in the hands of Columbia.

But after the application of NBC was written in capital letters: "HEREBY DENIED."

Little Men, What Now?
At least fifty of the little business men who flocked to Washington last week took credit for giving Roosevelt the idea for calling the conference. They had written to him, they said, and the president obviously had followed their advice.

Whoever actually was responsible for the conference, however, pulled a boner. The meeting was the most futile and disorderly stampede Washington has seen since the ill-fated bonus army besieged Hoover in 1932. Before the first day was over many delegates were wondering why they had spent good cash to participate in a mad-house.

The whole thing was a sad commentary upon (1) the lack of coordination between the department of commerce and business; (2) the lack of coordination between business men themselves.

Several times the department of agriculture has brought several thousand farmers to Washington. They have been well ordered; carefully organized and extremely effective—due entirely to the close contact between Henry Wallace's agriculture department and the farm organizations.

In contrast, Dan Roper's little men conference was chiefly a platform for a few ballyhoo artists to grab all the lime-light. The plausible gents from the business men's associations were right on the job to show they were earning their salaries, and a group representing the more prosperous owners of larger companies were very busy reflecting the same attitude as big business.

The whole show illustrated the difficulty of getting business together, and would have been ridiculous had it not been for the pathetic attitude of the bonafide "little fellows"—men with one or two employees, shabbily clothed, diffident, unused to talking in public, vainly seeking some solution to a problem too big for them.

Little Men Merry-Go-Round

Most efficient group at the Little Men's Conference was that interested in automobile installment-buying. Its members reported that half a million more new cars were produced in '36 and '37 than were needed and that installment buying terms were so easy people bought more new cars in preference to old. Thus the used car market became glutted. . . . High-pressure tactics, they reported, had loaded the lowest income groups with debts they could not pay. . . . "Ma" Perkins frequently was attacked for codding the unions. . . . Social security, as a rule, was favored. The wage-hour bill was not. . . . Their biggest need, according to the Little Men, was easier credit. They complained that the banks would not lend them money without high collateral. . . . Clarence Reilly of Chicago urged a "West Point" for inventors. The work of these inventors would then be owned by the government and used for the benefit of the public. . . . Percy Hansen, editor of the Jamestown N. D. Sun made the shortest speech of the convention: "What business needs is not to be given a loan but to be let alone."

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

There is practically no sense to making a simple little story complicated but, after all, we must give a complete background.

The keepers of a large aquarium were called from their offices one day to take charge of a strange situation. A lady had dropped a diamond ring into an open-top fish tank. It was necessary to drain the tank to get the ring and, unfortunately, while turning a wrench on the pipe, one of the keepers knocked a hole in the tank. Ordinarily it takes half an hour to fill the tank but in this case the hole allowed one-third of the water being poured in to escape. How long did it take the keepers to fill the tank?

THREE ILLINOIS COAL COMPANIES JOIN IN BATTLE

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Ten Illinois coal companies had petitions on file in the United States circuit court of appeals today in protest against the minimum price schedule drawn up by the national bituminous coal commission.

Rice W. Miller of Hillsboro, president of the Nokomis Coal Co., announced last night that three Montgomery county coal companies had filed a petition in Chicago to have the court set aside the minimum rate schedule.

Previously seven other companies had applied for court action and Governor Horner announced he would file a formal protest with the coal commission charging the price schedule was "ruinous" to the Illinois mining industry.

Miller said the Montgomery county companies asked for "temporary relief" while awaiting hearing on their suit. The companies charged, he stated, that the federal commission acted illegally in fixing the Illinois prices and in not granting a previous plea that they be authorized to sell coal at lower price levels.

Miller reported the three companies shipped only 17,000 tons of coal in January, compared with 50,000 tons in December.

Indiana mines, Miller said, could undersell Illinois mines 25 to 75 cents a ton. He reported Montgomery county miners lost $40,000 in expected wages in January because of price fixing.

VILLAIN OF MARINE WORLD PREYS ON GREAT LAKES

Ann Arbor, Mich.—(AP)—Conservationists and fishermen are worrying over a new threat to the commercial fishing industry of the Great Lakes—the sea lamprey.

This marine parasite, an eel-like, blood-sucking animal which attaches itself to food-fishes, may, like the smelt, reach the limits of the lakes and add to factors already contributing to the depletion of the commercial fish supply in these waters.

Dr. Carl L. Hubbs, University of Michigan ichthyologist, and Dr. John Van Oosten, in charge of Great Lakes investigations for the Bureau of Fisheries, report the lamprey is now found in all lakes except Lake Superior.

The lamprey, equipped with a suction mouth, clings to fish, rasps a hole through the skin and then

WATER - TASTERS LIVE FROM NOSE TO MOUTH
Philadelphia—(AP)—Two Philadelphians depend on their noses for a large part of their income. Samuel Crawford and Thomas Kinslow are Philadelphia's official smellers — and tasters — of its drinking water.

Both have developed their senses of smell and taste to a high degree of efficiency during nearly 10 years as employees of the Bureau of Water.

Each morning they examine samples taken from the city's three principal pumping stations. If they find the water isn't as it should be, they hot-foot it up the river to see which factory is to blame. That seldom happens, however, for most companies cooperate.

COMPETITION OF COLLEGES FOR STUDENTS CITED

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Competition for students among colleges and universities no longer is restricted to athletes, says the 32nd annual report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, but extends even to "drum majors and tuba players."

Turning from athletic proselytizing, which the foundation criticized in blunt terms in past years, a section of the report written by Dr. Walter A. Jessup, foundation president, and issued yesterday, asserted:

"Jobs and scholarships are dangled before the eyes of impecunious high school pupils. Fraternities and sororities vie in recruiting students who can pay their bills and bring glory (in press notices) to a chapter."

"In bidding for favors we are streamlining the job—our current models glitter with gadgets that smack of the factory and the salesman. Perhaps a college can gain by adopting 16 cylinders, hydraulic brakes . . . but certainly the college which rests its case on something new or adopting some gadget of the moment would do well to consider the long road it must travel."

Motivating this campaign of high-pressure salesmanship — a campaign, the report says, that sent 83 college representatives to one mid-west high school in a single year — is the "constant fear of losing tuition-paying students."

Copyright, 1938, E. J. Barnardo Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina

REG CARRINGTON: "I see you're a steady Camel smoker, Commander. There really isn't any difference in cigarettes, is there?"

COMMANDER ELLSBERG: "You're dead wrong, Reg. The life of a deep-sea diver is tough on a man. Most of the divers I know are steady Camel smokers, and they know there's a difference. Take my own case. I've smoked Camels for ten years. They never get on my nerves. Smoking Camels, I feel that I enjoy life more. Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me."

"Yes—absolutely!" says Commander Edward Ellsberg. And millions of other steady smokers agree that there is a distinct difference in Camels. That's why Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in the world.

Life of Madame Curie Reviewed

Mrs. H. A. White delighted her audience Friday afternoon with her Book Review of Madame Curie.

This romantic life-story of the discoverer of radium came out in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post last fall, entitled "Marie Curie, My Mother," later appearing in book form, bearing the title "Madame Curie."

It was written by Eve Curie, the youngest of her two daughters, and translated into English by Vincent Sheehan who has written a wonderful translation.

Miss Curie says of her mother, "The Life of Marie Curie" contains prodigies in such numbers that one would like to tell her story like a legend—a powerful vacation summoned her from her motherland, Poland, to study in Paris where she lived through years of poverty and solitude, where she met and married a man whose genius was akin to hers.

I should have liked the gifts of a writer to tell of this eternal student—of whom Einstein said: "Marie Curie is, of all celebrated beings, the only one whom fame has not corrupted"—passing like a stranger across her own life, intact, natural, and very nearly unaware of her own astonishing destiny."

Mrs. Howard P. Buxton will give the next book review, the date to be announced later, probably early in March. The public is cordially invited to these reviews.

Annual Luncheon Of Dixon D. A. R. Is Held Saturday

Climaxing a year of interesting activities, members and guests of the Dixon chapter, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, assembled Saturday at 1 o'clock in the century-old dining room of the Nachusa Tavern for their annual luncheon celebrating the birthdays of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Tables appropriately decorated with clusters of small American flags were arranged to accommodate eighty-five guests, and a large American flag formed a fitting background for the speaker's table. Either purposely or unconsciously, a tribute was most aptly paid to George Washington's time-honored regard for veracity when the delectable three-course luncheon ended with a service of individual pies of fruit from the cherry tree.

Preceding the luncheon, the guests were welcomed in the lobby by a reception committee comprised of the chapter of officers and members of the social committee. Those standing in the receiving line were Mrs. H. M. Price, Mrs. Warren G. Murray, Mrs. Wilbur Hutchinson, Miss Josephine Nichols, Mrs. Willard Thompson, Miss Jean Hitchcock, Miss Jennie Laing and Mrs. John Harvey.

Following the luncheon, a patriotic program was rendered. Mrs. Price, regent, was elected as a delegate to the state and national conventions, with Mrs. George Strickler and Miss Josephine Nichols being named as her alternates.

Mrs. Price introduced and welcomed the Misses Grace and Mae Johnston, Mrs. L. Jones, Mrs. Hubert White, Mrs. Archie Deihl and Mrs. W. B. Donaldson, all of Polo, as new members of the Dixon chapter. Other new members introduced were Mrs. Harry Little, the Misses Alice and Evelyn Street, Mrs. Edward Wingert, Miss Anne Eustace, Mrs. D. B. Brader, and Mrs. L. B. Neighbor.

Recognition was paid out-of-town guests and Dixon members of out-of-town chapters. Mrs. Don Crowell of Oregon, Mrs. Dora Hughes of Muskogee, Okla., and Mrs. Phillips, vice-regent of Rock River chapter at Sterling were introduced, as were also Mrs. Z. W. Moss, Mrs. A. H. Lancaster, Mrs. Barry Lennon, Mrs. F. S. McCole, Mrs. G. W. Lindquist, Mrs. Ben Bernard Billinger, Miss Lola Quick, Mrs. Grover Gehant, Mrs. T. H. Boyd and Miss Maxine McGinnis, all of Dixon.

Mrs. Ruth Bovey, program chairman, presented the talented Misses Marie Haefliger and Jane Ann Sharp who, dressed in colonial costumes, danced to Paderewski's "Minuet L' Antique," with Mrs. William H. Haefliger at the piano.

The feature of the afternoon was the rendition of a most comprehensive and appreciative treatise on "Historic Williamsburg" by the guest speaker, Mrs. Z. W. Moss, whose artistry in depicting this restored old metropolis of the Virginia Colony, which she and Dr. Moss visited last summer, was achieved with an inspired, encompassing eye and a responsive heart, through which she transported her listeners to this small southern city of Colonial Virginia.

As a prologue, she read a sketch by Harry Becker, former resident of Williamsburg, which was entitled "Williamsburg Before the Restoration." Mr. Becker recounts the simple lives of these descendants of Colonial Williamsburg who lived in the village prior to 1900. These were a people ultra-conservative, tolerating no change, and turning deaf ears to all movements for improvements, choosing to live as their fathers, and content in the isolated tranquility of a dead age. Mr. Becker described the principal thoroughfare, the Duke of Gloucester street, which connects the college of William and Mary with the colonial capital, as a dusty road, bedded to a depth of twelve inches with finely ground, powdery oyster shells, which forms an oozing, slushy mud when rains beat upon it.

Until 1900 the village had no water system or electric lights, and the only means of illumination were candles and kerosene lamps. In 1905, restoration was begun on the Bruton parish church, the second oldest Episcopal church in America.

Living again the joys of her trip and sharing them with her audience, Mrs. Moss said, "You cannot be grateful enough to Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and his wife for the patriotic work which they have done, practically raising up the city from the ashes of the past, where the sense of history fulfilled is in the very air."

Reviewing English political history from the date of Mary, Queen of Scots, to the settlement of Jamestown and into the development of early colonial government which centered in Williamsburg, Mrs. Moss told of the laying of underground telephone wires, the removal of two and one-half miles of railroad track, the diverting of federal highways, and the tearing down of four hundred and fifty modern buildings from the colonial area in order to recapture the original atmosphere of colonial dignity and charm.

She spoke enthusiastically of the boxwood gardens, cool, formal and flower-free, and of the crepe myrtle and mimosa which bloom with such abundance.

The architectural distinction, historical significance and political importance of the old Capitol building was stressed by the speaker. It was in this building that the speaker of the House of Burgesses, addressing George Washington, uttered the words, "Sit down, Mr. Washington, your modesty is equal to your valor, and that surpasses the power of any language I possess." Gilbert Stuart's famed painting of Washington hangs in the capitol.

An old home known as the "Paradise House" now contains Mrs. John D. Rockefeller's fine collection of American folk art, and it carries the distinction of being the first American museum devoted to this type of painting and sculpture, a folk art portraying everyday people, made by everyday people, and for the use and enjoyment of everyday people.

Mrs. Moss closed her treatise with a wish that all Americans might visit Williamsburg and catch something of its excellence and permanence.

Mrs. E. J. Brown, chairman of the Dixon chapter, filing and lending of historical papers bureau, solicited the manuscript, and it was generously donated. Copies were today mailed to the state and national bureaus, and "Historical Williamsburg" will become a permanent historical document.

IN DEFENDING NAVY'S DEFENSE LINE

There has been much talk about the United States Navy's "Line of Defense," for it is a good, resounding phrase that fits in handily when politicians or statesmen, either, have occasion to talk for public consumption.

But until just recently the "Line of Defense" was a vague, indistinct wavering mark which not one out of a hundred run-of-the-mine citizens could have placed even remotely. Some congressmen even accused the State Department of placing the line on the Yangtze in China.

Then the hypothetical line was drawn, and by no less authority than Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations. It runs, he explained according to navy technique, from the Aleutian Islands (off the coast of Alaska), southward through Hawaii to Samoa, eastward to the Panama Canal and thence to the Virgin Islands and the Maine coast—an irregular circle bounding a lot of water in two oceans, a considerable number of islands and the United States.

The admiral's statement immediately brought up the question: "What about the rest of the Americas?" Shouldn't the defense line be extended and instead of cutting through the Panama Canal be enlarged to encircle the continent of South America?

Perhaps it should be, perhaps it shouldn't. It isn't one question, it's several.

If the Monroe Doctrine should break down and one or several foreign powers should attempt to seize one or several South American countries, just what can we do about it. Would our navy, under its proposed enlargements, be husky enough to steam southward and justify the excursion? How much help could it expect from South America itself?

Laying out a line defense is one thing and actually defending that line is another. Great Britain found that a bluff was just that in a showdown.

The line of defense for the United States is important and laying it out is undoubtedly necessary. But wouldn't it be a wise idea to get down to actualities and figure out just how all-inclusive that line should be, and how practically defensible the line can be in case of a test?

In other words, draw a defense line the navy can defend and stick to it.

SPEAKING OF ORACLES

Debunking has come to be one of the world's most popular pastimes. Great heroes are shown up as just ordinary folks with a touch of luck. Even the ground-hog isn't really a ground-hog and wouldn't come out on time if he were.

But now the British Museum has gone even further. Its scientists dug deeply into the ruins of 2300 B. C. in northern Syria and unearthed an elaborate private home not far from a palace. And in the home they found an oracle. And in the oracle they found—a speaking tube.

It isn't enough that we live in a modern mechanized, matter-of-fact world of actualities. We can't even be allowed to believe in the delightful, fanciful, romantic mysteries of the past. Next Mt. Olympus will be just a hill with a picnic ground and a bandstand atop it.

YOUTH VS. SYPHILIS

The fight against syphilis is the fight of youth against a disease, for Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, recently told an audience in Des Moines that 78 per cent of syphilis cases were contracted by persons under the age of 30.

It will take years yet to bring the disease and the word into the common, matter-of-fact class of other infections, but the first step has been taken and so much has been done that there is hope of reducing almost immediately the half million new cases which appear every year.

College students, persuaded by the United States Department of Public Health and by campaigns of daily newspapers, are voluntarily appearing before clinics and taking tests for syphilis. When this action has progressed into high schools and even the grades below, much will have been done in youth's battle to prevent the United States from becoming a "syphilized" nation instead of a civilized nation.

LEARNING BY AIR

A permanent system of radio education, with 150 school receiving sets as a "private network" to receive programs from a broadcasting system at school headquarters, is projected in Cleveland.

This project which awaits assignment of a wavelength, is made possible by the Rockefeller Foundation, as part of a study of education by radio.

By making it possible for each board of education to make up its own programs, just as it makes up the courses of study for its schools in the first place, much of the objection to radio education might be removed.

The new plan would keep local control, yet afford all the advantages of "mass education" by ear. Educators throughout the country will have an ear cocked to catch the results of this system if and when it is put into practice.

At a recent meeting of the Lee County Rural Youth group, Miss Doris Boehle of Amboy was assigned the topic "Mormons in Lee County." It is the result of Miss Boehle's research work which we offer as the bill of far for

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints obtained a foothold and a large membership at an early date in Amboy township.

The first preacher to come was William Anderson, who got permission to preach in John Hook's house. Traveling preachers came along at intervals, and something of a band was formed, which grew to considerable proportions in a short while.

Any reference to this sect will lead to the story of the prophet's arrest in this township. His name was Joseph Smith and his wife, before her marriage was Emma Hale, sister of Alva of Sublette and David Hale and Mrs. Benjamin Davidson of Amboy. In the community were acquaintances of Smith's boyhood, and at least one, Uncle Asa Searles, had been a school-fellow. Occasionally, Smith visited his friends in the vicinity of Palestine Grove, and the presence of his followers, who numbered some of the most respectable families, made his journey doubly pleasurable.

At such times he always preached, and the people came to the log school-house situated on the Sublette road, a few rods from the railroad, to listen to his vehement oratory. It is more than probable that his visits here were prompted by other motives than pleasure and duty, for when the saints were driven in vengeance from Missouri, the leaders, including the prophet, were tried before a drum-head court martial and sentenced to be shot for treason, but were saved from this mobbish proceedings by the humane intervention of General Doniphan.

These men were held in custody on charges of theft, arson, treason and murder but escaped and came to Nauvoo. In the autumn of 1841 the governor of Missouri made a requisition on Governor Carlin of this state, but being soon afterwards returned unexecuted, Governor Carlin placed it in the hands of an officer, and Smith was this time arrested. He was then taken before Judge Stephen Douglas who was then sitting on the supreme bench, and discharged on a writ of habeas corpus upon the grounds that the writ upon which he had been arrested had been once returned before it was executed, and was functus officio. The next year the governor issued a new writ and Smith was arrested again, and was either rescued by his followers or discharged by the municipal court, a Mormon tribunal, on a writ of habeas corpus.

In the History of Illinois Governor Ford has given a circumstantial relation of these arrests:

In June, 1843, the governor of Missouri renewed his demand for the arrest and surrender of Smith, and accordingly a new warrant, in pursuance of the Constitution of the United States, was issued, and placed in the hands of a constable in Hancock. This constable and the Missouri agent hastened to Nauvoo to make the arrest, where they ascertained that Joe Smith was next to a visit to Rock river. They pursued him thither and succeeded in arresting him in Palestine Grove in the county of Lee.

Mrs. Smith was visiting her relatives, and the prophet, as was natural for him to do, had joined her and had spoken once at the log school-house in a Sunday discussion with a Methodist preacher named Headly, regarding the authenticity of the Book of Mormon. The next day he was called upon by these two men and being told that they had a warrant for him he forcibly undertook to contest their ability to make him a prisoner. He was full six feet tall, strongly built and uncommonly well-muscled. With the two united against him the struggle that followed was a desperate one. He was at length overpowered but not until all had received bruises enough to show each had been in the thickest of the fight.

This episode occasioned the wildest excitement; the people suspected the legality of the arrest and were not sure that it was not a ruse to get him away where he could be made the victim of insult and violence. A crowd followed to Dixon to insure a fair place, and finally consented for the captors to depart with the prisoner without opposition. The constable immediately delivered his prisoner to the Missouri agent and returned, his warrant having been executed.

The agent started with his prisoner in the direction of Missouri, but on the road was met by a number of armed Mormons, who captured the whole party and conducted them in the direction of Nauvoo. Further on, they were met by hundreds of Mormons coming to the rescue of their prophet who conducted him in grand triumph to his own city. A writ of habeas corpus was issued out of the municipal court composed of Joe Smith's tools and particular friends and by this court he was discharged. A year later he and his brother Hiram were basely murdered by an infuriated and cowardly mob; and as soon as the twelve apostles, who were absent on missionary work, could return, they, with Brigham

Young at their head, usurped the government of the church.

Numbers of Smith's followers had become disaffected before his death; the ranks of these were now augmented by considerable accessions, and a schism of no little importance was the result. Many of those who withdrew had to make their escape secretly to save their property and they formed the nucleus of the reorganized church which abjures polygamy. By these the claim is made that the prophet was not a patron of spiritual wifeism, but this is not to be at once admitted.

Aaron Hook, who lived at Nauvoo and had been ordained as an elder, returned to Rocky Ford to take up his residence; he sometimes preached and was an influential man among those of his faith. About the time of the hegira to Salt Lake, William Smith, a brother to the prophet, came among the saints at the Ford and organized a branch. He claimed to be a representative of the younger Joseph, son of the prophet, and a mere lad, and that it was his duty to rule and direct the people until the latter should assume the first place, or prophethood, in the church. Smith remained here awhile preaching and extending his congregation until it numbered no fewer than 60 souls.

The company was swelled by arrivals from Ohio and other places. Aaron Hook fitted up his house with a hall, which was used for their services. They laid out a town on the ridge north of Rocky Ford and at one time talked of building a temple, but the conception was never carried out. In course of time Smith got into bad repute with outsiders and was once arrested for bigamy, but was not convicted and in a little while he removed to other parts. The branch he had established lost its energy after his departure. Besides the Hooks, Edwin Cadwell, who came to the township in 1848 and lived there a long time, was a leading and respected Mormon. Wentworth Blair, Stephen Stone and his father, and David L. Doan belonged in the same category.

The further history of this sect in this place is uneventful until the year 1860 when, on April 6, the anniversary of the founding of the church, the annual conference assembled in Amboy, with representatives from the different branches in Iowa, Michigan and Illinois.

TWO WARS AND MORE TO COME—Matthews

Magnificent reporting on the Italian-Ethiopian and on the Spanish-Civil War. Strangely enough the author sympathized with the Italians, and now with the Loyalists in Spain. A brilliant, first hand narrative. Throughout the book runs a grim warning of more to come.

THE MAYO CLINIC—Wilder

A short history of the clinic, a complete list of the present staff, and a step-by-step description of how a patient "goes through" the clinic.

YOU HAVE SEEN THEIR FACES—Caldwell and Bourke-White

Short text and excellent illustrations showing the heart-breaking plight of the sharecroppers in the south. The New York Post declared editorially that this book deserves the audience of another Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Picturesque sobriquets that have been given to famous statesmen, sportsmen, actors, baseball teams, cities, etc.

Joseph Smith, Jr., of Plano was solemnly installed prophet and high priest in the old Mechanics' hall. Two conferences are held annually and for several years the spring gathering met at Amboy and the autumnal meeting in Iowa. Conversations and additions to the church have been made at different times and the society had a membership of about 40. Joseph Smith, Jr., who was a highly respected man, resided at Plano, where the headquarters of the church were established and publications were issued. Removal to Iowa was decided upon in 1860.

HELL ON ICE—Ellsberg
Nearly sixty years have passed since the Jeanette left the Golden Gate. It was the first expedition to seek the North Pole by way of the Behring Sea. The fate of the boat was a sensation at the time, and now Ellsberg has reconstructed from the logs of the hapless expedition an exciting tale: of men locked for two years in the Arctic pack, sudden disaster, desperate flight across the ice, and passage in a small boat to frozen Siberia. We see sailors transformed into leaders and heroes, some into lunatics, and some into reckless martyrs.

ONE AMERICAN AND HIS ATTEMPTS AT EDUCATION—Frazier Hunt

Another good book by a reporter who seems to have seen everything and known everybody. It belongs on the same shelf with Walter Duranty, Lillian Mowrer, and Vincent Sheean.

A shipment of bullion earmarked for shipment to the United States is cached in Mexico by a young Spaniard. He leaves the country and with the help of an English friend plans to create a new ruling class. They keep strange company, and of course they go back to Mexico to get the buried money. So far, the new year has been marked by an average of nearly one dividend omission per day.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM

PACE-SETTERS FACE CHANCE OF SHARING

Wesleyan And Western Teachers Are Challengers

Chicago, Feb. 7.—(AP)—League leaders in the Illinois college and the Illinois conference basketball races faced the prospect of sharing their positions this week.

The pace-setters in the two leagues were Bradley in the Illinois college and Southern Illinois Teachers of Carbondale in the Illinois Wesleyan and Western Teachers of Macomb.

Bradley, its brilliant streak of 11 consecutive triumphs snapped by Northwestern Saturday, 28 to 26, does not engage in conference competition this week. So Wesleyan, by conquering Millikin Friday night, would boost its record to three wins and no defeats, the same as that now held by Bradley.

The Intercollegiate conference setup is different in that both contenders are in action. Macomb, one game behind Carbondale, plays twice during the week, while the leaders, unbeaten in four starts, take on but one foe. Macomb plays as Eureka Tuesday and will face Northern at DeKalb Friday. Carbondale's lone league contest is with St. Viator Tuesday.

St. Viator engaged in four games last week, three of them conference, and carried off two of the league encounters. Northern fared even better, accounting for Viator's lone conference setback and also disposing of Carthage.

Other Intercollegiate title games this week pit State Normal against Eastern Teachers of Charleston and Eureka against Carthage.

In the Illinois college group, Millikin plays at Illinois College and North Central at Augustana in other conference battles.

SPORTSMEN'S CLUB MET IN JORDAN HALL

One hundred and fifty people attended the regular monthly meeting of the Jordan Sportsmen's club last Thursday evening held at the Jordan Center hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, Louis Ziegler, at which time the regular reports were given. A motion was made and carried in favor of opening the duck season Oct. 15 instead of Nov. 1st. It was also voted that the club ask for a shipment of jackrabbits to be distributed in this section.

Howard Hartman the wild life technician gave an outline of the activities of the county club for the coming year. He also gave a report of the annual Sportsmen's Banquet held in the Morrison Coliseum last week, which was attended by 378 persons. Bob Becker of Chicago nationally known hunter, writer and speaker was the main speaker.

John Karrow gave a report of the last business meeting of the county officers held at Morrison. He reported that the present membership is 3376 and that the goal for 1938 has been set at 5,000 members for Whiteside county. The county club has raised and released 634 pheasants and 150,000 fish and 120 rabbits have been released in the county. He also announced that the state department had promised to send the county at least 2000 baby pheasants during the coming spring and summer months.

The business session was followed by a mock broadcast given by the pupils of the Jordan Center School over station S-A-P-E, an announcer being Leonard Hummel. The next number was given by the Wobler brothers from the Kapp school who presented "The Census Taker." The following hour was given to Prof. L. W. Miller who delighted the audience with his splendid pictures of the Pacific Northwest, explaining the most interesting points of his recent trip. It was learned that Thursday was his birthday and much to his surprise the school children sang the "Birthday Song" after which Wallace Myers with a few well chosen words, presented him with a birthday cake.

H. S. Harrington then took the floor as he had charge of selling the baskets after which Mr. Myers presented him with a cake. A prize was awarded the one having the best trimmed basket. A neat sum was realized from the social and a delightful fellowship hour followed. The next meeting will be held on March 3.

Kovacs Indicates He's Rising Power In Tennis World

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Frank Kovacs, 18-year-old Oakland, Calif., player left for Palm Beach today after a brilliant Sunday tennis battle with Bobby Riggs.

Riggs, from Chicago and ranked No. 2 nationally, was forced to extend himself to win the Surf club finals, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. It was the second time this winter Riggs had played Kovacs in a final match. In the first, the Miami Biltmore tournament, he had less trouble defeating the youngster.

DIXON EASILY DEFEATS TIGERS BY 44-25 SCORE

Sharpshooters Play Rochelle, Princeton Again This Week

Dixon high continued its upward surge from a period of defeats by trampling the strong Princeton Tigers 44 to 25 in basketball Saturday night in the Bureau county seat, the Dixon lightweights easily taking the preliminary encounter by a 30 to 12 count.

Dixon took an early 12 to 3 lead in the first quarter and piled it up to 24 to 12 in the second quarter, the Tigers making a better showing after their slow start. The Sharpshooters were never in danger of losing their initial advantage with Eddie Callahan and Louis Bevilacqua tossing in the buckets the way they did for twelve points each, and in the third period the locals had piled up a 40 to 9 margin.

Coasted Last Frame

Coasting through the fourth period the Sharpshooters contented themselves with four points in the last stanza while Princeton also collapsed and garnered only four. C. Bergin was Princeton's best scoring bet. He got five baskets and two free throws for twelve points. The game was a non-conference breather for the Purple and White of Dixon.

Next Friday and Saturday the Sharpshooters will engage in another double bill, invading Rochelle for a conference game Friday evening and entertaining Princeton on the home strand here Saturday evening. Both games will be the second played by the Sharpshooters against these quints this winter.

In the N. C. I conference DeKalb is securely perched on top of the heap with five straight victories. Sterling is the nearest challenger to the Barbs' position holding three victories and six starts, while Belvidere, beaten by Dixon last Friday, has been relegated to the second division. Dixon and Rochelle follow in order. In the lightweight division Belvidere suffered its first defeat at the hands of the Dixon ponies last week and is now forced to share its lead with the Purple and White.

Interstate Pin Tournament Has New Leader Now

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 7.—(AP)—The interstate bowling tournament at Aurora had a new leader in the individual event today.

Max Graf, Aurora veteran of more than 40 years of tournament play, shot into first place in the singles last night with a mark of 719. He has games of 287, 222 and 210.

Leaders in the other divisions remained unchanged although teams from Milwaukee and Chicago bettered 3,000-totals in the five-man event. The Pabst Blue Ribbons of Milwaukee bowled 3,047 while the Oak Leaf Bowlers of Chicago hit 3,005.

Several American collar companies have attempted to enter the British market, but only one has attained any success.

No Industrial Cage Loop Games Tomorrow Night

Knacks Leaders and I. N. U. cage teams motor to Mt. Morris tonight to engage two Mt. Morris independent basketball quints in the Mt. Morris Community gymnasium, the teams being requested today by Paul Potts, Industrial league manager, to gather at 6:30 P. M. promptly at the Candy Box.

The first game will begin at 7:15 P. M. Both teams are requested to leave Dixon together and travel to Mt. Morris in a body. No Industrial league basketball games will be played at Dixon high school Tuesday night owing to flood conditions around the high school. The schedule for this week will be postponed until next Tuesday, A. C. Bowers said today.

WINTER SPORTS REACH CLIMAX AT MARQUETTE

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Winter sports will reach their climax at Marquette university during the coming week with the Hilltop basketball and track teams facing traditional opponents, while the hockey squad continues its informal campaign.

Coach Bill Chandler's Marquette basketball quintet, returning from eastern games with Canisius and Niagara, will tangle with the national championship Notre Dame five in the Milwaukee auditorium, next Wednesday night, Feb. 9. It will face Butler at Indianapolis, Saturday night, and Kentucky at Lexington, Feb. 14.

The Blue and Gold tracksters, who had their baptism of fire against Notre Dame, Friday night, will invade Madison next Saturday for their annual indoor dual with Wisconsin.

25th Hoop Clash

Wednesday night's basketball clash with Notre Dame will be the 25th in a warm series which began in 1920 on a dirt floor at South Bend and was renewed the next winter on concrete at the Milwaukee auditorium. Marquette has won only five games in the series, the last time being a 36-21 decision in 1935.

It is likely that both the Hilltoppers and the Irish will be pointed for peak performances. Chandler and Dr. George Keogan of Notre Dame have both personally scouted their respective foes.

Coach Tom Jones of the Wisconsin track team boasts a number of veterans this winter and believes they can pull through to a dual win over Marquette next Saturday.

No definite Hilltop hockey schedule has been arranged but games with local and state amateur teams are in the offing.

MEDWICK SAYS HE'S WORRIED ABOUT FUTURE

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Joe Medwick is concerned about the future and not the present in his holdout differences with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The National league's "most valuable" player last season stated his case today as he prepared to tee off for his daily round of golf.

"You've got to make your pile while you're going good," said the Cardinal outfielder who captured just about all the senior loop's honors in 1937.

"When I've passed my peak as a ball player the club isn't going to remember what I did in 1937. It will pay me what I figure I'm worth and that's all," said Medwick.

Matter of Business
"That's why I want to get every cent I think is coming to me now," he added. "It's just a matter of business with me."

Medwick, one of St. Petersburg's colony of baseball holdouts, is confident he will have a great season but declared "If I go haywire, I couldn't expect anything but a pay cut next year."

Joe described himself as a "reluctant holdout" and said he believed there would be little trouble in reaching a salary agreement "satisfactory to me and the club."

He said he saw Sam Breadon, Cardinal owner, in New York last week.

"We just said hello, that's all. We didn't talk salary," Medwick and Breadon are expected to start pay discussions when the Cards' boss arrives here to complete preparations for opening the club's spring training camp.

REVOLTA WINS IN SACRAMENTO OPEN TOURNEY

Increases His Lead As Top Money Winner Of Winter

Sacramento, Calif., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Johnny Revolta, as reliable a shot-maker as the game has produced in many a year, added the Sacramento open tournament to his list of golfing conquests today in addition to increasing his lead as top-money winner of the winter tournament season.

He conquered rain, wind and other provoking playing conditions to post a 72-hole total of 290 yesterday, two strokes over par for the distance.

Revolta fired a par 72 for his opening round and capped his final with a similar score. In between he carded 73's.

Has Won $5,250
Revolta, from Evanston, Ill., has accumulated $5,250 since the winter swing began last December. He opened the tour with a victory in the $10,000 Miami-Biltmore tournament. The Sacramento event netted him $750.

Revolta finished a stroke ahead of Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., who had a 72-hole score of 291. A five on the par-four last hole cost Ghezzi a chance to tie. He pulled his second shot 40 yards to the side, pitched up and missed a 20-foot putt by inches. He had a 69 and 73 for his last two rounds.

Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Tex., took third money with a 292. Earl Fry, Alameda, Calif., Tony Penna, Dayton, O., Horton Smith and John Bula, both of Chicago, tied for fourth with 293's.

BEARS BOAST GRID VICTORY OVER REDSKINS

Miami, Fla., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Chicago's Bears boasted today of a professional football victory over the world champion Washington Redskins.

Rated as underdogs, the Bears turned on the Redskins yesterday to rack up a 16 to 10 victory that was enlivened by several fistic encounters between players.

Washington's ace, Slinging Sammy Baugh, was not in top form. Although he sparked two passing attacks that advanced into Bear territory during the 15 minutes in which he saw action, Baugh was slowed by a bad leg.

Riley Smith's 30-yard field goal in the second quarter put the Redskins in the lead, but not for long. Jack Manders returned the kickoff 58 yards and Keith Molesworth scored a few minutes later. Manders kicked the point.

Manders booted a field goal from the 10-yard stripe in the third period. In the fourth, Sam Francis intercepted Ray Peterson's pass and raced 33 yards across the goal. Joe Smith added the point.

Washington's lone touchdown came in the final moments. Wayne Miller ran 12 yards to score after intercepting John Doering's pass. Smith added the point.

Answer to Question No. 1—

7. They are extremely dangerous. Marriage should be a contract "openly arrived at." In Woodrow Wilson's famous phrase, any concealment means nervous strain, especially upon the part of the bride—usually scheming and deceit. It also usually signifies an effort to defeat parental opposition but it is a bad way even to do that. It must be an unwise course or else statistics would not show that such marriages end in divorce more frequently than do those entered into publicly. A booklet "How to Be Happily Married", prepared by a leading authority, may be had at cost, 10 cents and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2—

2. Nearly all the problems of the world have been solved by people who had uncommon—not common sense. When we say people ought to use common horse sense, we really mean they should use intelligent, uncommon sense. Lincoln solely because he has uncommon sense. Common, average, everyday sense is the most wobbly, undependable thing in the world and the easiest to organize into mob psychology.

Answer to Question No. 3—

3. As one writer calls it, a crippled tongue is a greater handicap than a crippled leg or arm. The reason is that handicaps one in expressing his thoughts and personality. Many courageous persons overcome the drawback to expressing their personality but cannot overcome the drawback to expressing their thoughts. The National Hospital for Speech Disorders of New York is doing fine work in curing this handicap in many people. Nearly every college and university now has a department for treating both speaking and dreading difficulties.

ROMANCE OF FAROUK
 and FARIDA

YOUTHFUL good-looking King
 Farouk of Egypt saw Sasi Naz Zulicfar for the first time two years ago in England, where he was a student in preparation for his kingship. His mother, Queen Nazli, visited him and pretty young Sasi was her guest.

Very shortly Farouk was dividing his time between his mother and dark-eyed Sasi. Candy and flowers and frequent calls first brought the romance to the attention of Egyptian ministers.
 Then tragedy struck; Farouk's father, King Fuad, died, and the young prince was recalled to Egypt to become king. But he did not forget Sasi.

Last summer he renewed his courtship after his investiture as king, won Sasi's "ice wa" or all right. And because the names of all his family begin with "F," he changed Sasi's to Farida (Pearl-less). Wed recently in Cairo, Farida, at 16, became the first queen of an entirely independent Egypt since the days of Cleopatra, who was a sovereign in her own right.

Farida is the daughter of a judge. Farouk is pressing his cabinet to permit her to appear in public more as an English queen does, rather than to follow
 the custom of Oriental sovereigns. Farouk is shown here on the current Egyptian stamp honoring his reign.

THREE WORLD RECORDS FALL; INDOOR MEETS

New York, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The 1938 indoor track and field season still is in its infancy but three world records, one of them of long standing already have been smashed.

As the nation's greatest athletes separated today, they looked back on one of the most thrilling meets in the history of the Millrose A. A.
 Ben Johnson, Columbia's Negro
 captain, stamped himself as the newest "fastest human" with a new world record for 60 yards and Forrest (Spec) Towns of Georgia and Allan Tolmich of Wayne university ruing up a new international mark for the 60-yard hurdles.

Six Seconds Flat
 Johnson stepped down the straightaway in six seconds flat.
 He gave warning of what was to come by tying the record of 5.2 in the trial heats and then clipping one-tenth of a second off that in the semi-finals.

The performance gave Johnson ranking as the outstanding performer of the meet. A committee of sports writers placed the Columbia ace ahead of Glenn Cunningham and New York university's sophomore, Jimmy Herbert, who remained unbeaten this year with a sterling victory in the 600-yard run.

Although Towns whipped Tolmich in the finals of the hurdles, the lanky Georgian was forced to share the new record of 7.4 with the green-shirted boy from Michigan. Both made the time in their trial heats and Towns did it again in the

CAST OF CHARACTERS
 POLLY CHELSEY, heroine; stranded in London when war breaks out.
 JERRY WHITFIELD, hero; the Yankee who sees her through.
 CABELL BANKS, privateer
 captain.

Yesterday: Unwelcome in her great-uncle's house since the declaration of war, Polly seeks to find Jerry Whitfield.

CHAPTER IV

JERRY WHITFIELD, who had sworn to his New England
 mother that he would not drink strong liquor, sat in the Unicorn and Crown Tavern trying to drown his troubles in a mug of ale. Those troubles were as follows: he was caught on the wrong side of the Atlantic when America was going to war; and he had seen for a moment and lost again in the fog
 a tall brown-haired Yankee girl who had appealed to him with fright in her eyes.

He looked up to see old Chet Wheeler beckoning to him furtively from the doorway of the inn.
 He got up and followed Chet outside.

"Get your clothes together in a hurry, lad!" the old sailor whispered hoarsely. "We're going to Dover by coach. Down at the wharves I scraped acquaintance with a Scotch smuggler, half French, that says he'll take us across the Channel. He's got a fishing craft called the Sea Serpent that works out of a cove between Dover and Deal and he puts in at a fishing town near Calais.
 He calls himself John McGean or Jean Clitte, accordin' to where he's standin'."

"Well, now—" Jerry demurred.
 "It was then that the girl came toward them. She was walking rapidly and her eyes were fixed on the sign of the Unicorn and Crown. In her arms she carried a little mongrel dog.

Jerry went toward her, and when she saw him she stopped in her tracks. Her face lighted in a way to quicken his pulse. "Oh!"
 she said. "It's you! I can't tell you how glad I am!"

"You mean you were looking for me?"
 "Yes. I had to find you again.
 I'm Polly Chelsey from Connecticut and I've just run away from old
 Mr. Dart's house in Hempill Street because he hates Americans. He's my great-uncle, but he doesn't claim me. . . . Do you remember seeing me this morning?"

"Yes! I looked for you after you ran away, but not a trace. My name's Jerry Whitfield—"
 "I know. I heard him call you that." She inclined her head toward Wheeler who was making elaborate pretense of studying the sky.

 Jerry asked, "Are you the daughter to Trepid Chelsey who lost the brig Proud Lyme off Nantucket a few years back?"

"Yes. That's my father."
 "Then you're my cousin, Polly Chelsey!—Far distant, I mean."
 Jerry asked hastily while his eyes paid ardent homage. "My mother's got Chelsey blood. We live in Massachusetts, Newburyport."

Chet Wheeler cleared his throat,
 and Jerry made the introductions,
 after which old Chet said pointedly:
 "We're just leaving London, Miss.
 Jerry and me. We're taking coach for Dover."

"Oh-h-h," said Polly in a small forlorn voice.
 "Can she go with us?" Jerry asked Chet.

"No! I had to fight for two passages as it was. Get to France yourself, lad. Then send for her."
 Jerry looked hard at Chet Wheeler. "I'll not leave her stranded here," he said. The two seamen understood each other as well as if they had argued for hours. Jerry Whitfield would stay on, knowing that every hour that passed must make more precarious the life of an American sailor in London. They shook hands and parted, old Chet looking as sour as if pickled in brine.

JERRY took Polly into the tavern where he was able to engage a small room overlooking the stable yard. He explained to the inn keeper, Mr. Toby: "I will use that room. My cousin here, Miss Polly Chelsey, will take my former room. Send up fresh linen and save the room cleaned for her.
 We'll have our supper there for privacy, if you can serve us. Miss Chelsey has a little dog with her.
 He'll want bones."

Soon they were together in the inn room that had been Jerry's.
 Polly was helping the porter lay out the supper.
 Polly was impressed. "Have you learned all this from the English?"
 she wanted to know. "I ought to have on my low-neck muslin dress and my dancing slippers, ready to step off a minute!"

"You ought to be just the way you are," Jerry answered. Somehow the words carried the meaning he wanted to convey. He was an inarticulate New Englander, in love for the first time in his 25 years of eager living, and he was a little dizzy from it. "Tell me about old Mr. Dart now," he suggested.

Polly told him, and he listened thoughtfully. After that he told her about himself, and how he had become stranded in London. "We are both in some danger here," he said simply, "but things will be finals. The old mark of 7.5 was established by John Collier in 1934 and equalled by Sam Allen of Bris-tole, Okla.

Twin Combinations
 The twin combination of Delmer and Elmer Brown and Wayne and Blaine Rideout from West Texas State Teachers chalked up the third new mark in the mile and seven-eighths medley relay. With Blaine Rideout getting up in the final strides to nose out Indiana's Jimmy Smith on the anchor leg, the Texas team was timed in 7:27.5. The old mark of 7:29.6 was made by New York university in 1932.

Cunningham, still the master miler despite his 28 years, tied the Millrose mark of 4:11 and whipped his Kansas teammate, Archie San-Romani, by 10 yards.

Don Lash, Indiana's "iron man," dropped out in the mile but came back 75 minutes later with a last lap kick to nose out Joe McCluskey in the two-mile race in 9:06.

BRAINS OF OUTFIT

Dunn, N. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A farmer was charged with driving a wagon while intoxicated, but that wasn't exactly Patrolman J. F.
 Bradshaw's version of it.
 "The mule was leading him along the road," said Bradshaw. "In fact,

 the mule was the brains of the outfit."
 The farmer was convicted.

OIL SHARES CLOUDED

... The trend of oil shares has continued to approximate that of the general market. Admittedly the statistical situation is not bright enough to justify a highly optimistic outlook for the near term trend.
 ... On the other hand, the general market break of October and November lowered the oils to prices at which they were distinctly undervalued from a long term angle.

Christian Scientists Accused in Girl's Death

Charging that his diabetic 10-year-old daughter died because she failed to receive insulin treatments, Edward W. Whitney, former Detroit insurance adjuster, obtained manslaughter warrants in Chicago against the child's aunt and two Christian Science practitioners. The warrants named Mrs.
 Mary Lou Glen, the aunt, and William F. Rubert and a Mrs. Lonergan, practitioners. Whitney told Judge Oscar S. Caplan that his daughter, Audrey Kay Whitney, above at left, died Dec. 15 while in Chicago visiting Mrs. Glen. The picture on the right shows the stricken survivors, Whitney, his wife, Lois, and their 2-year-old son.

Five Little Girls Become Snow Sprites in Wintry Dionneville

Five laughing little snow-maidens these wintry days are the Dionne quintuplets. Fur collars turned up around their necks, woolen helmets tight on their heads, they are ready for frolic every time snow fills the air. That's Emilie, smiling at left, then grave Yvonne, and Marie grinning broadly in the center. Annette is the quizzical one who comes next, and that's Cecile who rolls such

At Moose Meet

Otto W. Meyers, deputy supreme secretary of the Loyal Order of Moose, will be the principal speaker at the regular Wednesday evening meeting of the lodge here which is of special importance to all Dixon members of Lodge No. 772.

Meyers was born in 1901 in Kendall county. He graduated from Yorkville High School in 1919, and then received a thorough business training at Aurora College. So excellent was his record that, upon leaving, he became office manager for the Ford agency in Aurora, after which he engaged in sales promotion work with the All-Steel Equipment Company.

His rise in the Loyal Order of Moose has been both rapid and distinguished. In 1920 he joined the Junior Order of the Fraternity, soon becoming Dictator of the local unit of this auxiliary. Then he was transferred to Aurora Lodge No.
400, where in rapid succession he became Sergeant-at-Arms, Prelate, Vice Dictator and Dictator. He is now a Past Dictator of the lodge.

In 1923 he entered the employ of the Supreme Lodge as field representative of the Junior Order of Moose. Three years later he became Supreme Lodge Auditor.

Meyers was appointed Deputy Supreme Secretary in January, 1937, by Supreme Secretary Malcolm R. Giles, with special supervision over the States of Alabama,
Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois,
Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland,
Michigan, Mississippi, North Carolina, Ohio, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia and District of Columbia. Mr. Meyers' wide experience in all activities of the order assures his success in this work.

Meyers is a Legionnaire. Loyal Order of Moose and a Fellow. He lives in Aurora with his wife and two sons.

tion, which adjourned its annual midwinter meeting yesterday, directed its resolutions committee to draft a resolution asking Governor Homer and the state legislature to enact a drivers' license law.

The resolution will be presented for vote at the state convention of Elks in June. No decision was made on a convention city by the group of officers and lodge representatives in session here.

Among speakers on the closing program were Grand Exalted Ruler
Charles Spencer Hart of New York,
Judge Floyd E. Thompson of Chicago, Bruce Campbell of East St.
Louis, Henry Warner of Dixon and Wendell S. Wilson, University of Illinois athletic director.

First Day of Filing Petitions Finds Many Received

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—(AP)—
The familiar names of virtually all the incumbent congressmen and legislators already have been entered in the April primary campaign.

Of all the members of the legislature whose terms expire this year, only a handful didn't file their nomination petitions in the opening day rush Saturday. Several of the missing names are retiring from politics.

The filings which so far haven't been as heavy as Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes and his aids expected, continue for two more weeks.

All the district congressmen filed petitions, with Scott W. Lucas of Havana entering as the Horner senatorial candidate and Thomas J.
O'Brien entering at Chicago as Cook county sheriff with Kelly-Nash backing. The only missing name was L. M. Long of Sandwich, congressman-at-large, since the other Democrat in that post, E. V.
Champion of Peoria, is retiring.

Republican legislators running for congress are Senators R. G. Crisenberry of Murphysboro, and Rep. R.
Randolph of Harrisburg.

In the state senate, where the odd-numbered districts have elections this year, the only incumbents who didn't file were R. V. Graham of Cicero and T. V. Smith of Chicago retiring Democrats, Senator Orval V. Tuttle, Harrisburg Republican, filed for the house.

Four representatives filed for the upper house—Richard J. Daley of Chicago and Nicholas L. Hubbard of Mt. Pulaski, Democrats, and O. E.
Benson of Ottawa and Frank Foster of Harvey, Republicans.

Leroy M. Green of Rockford, who was Republican leader of the house minority in 1935, filed for his old seat.

Other former representatives attempting comebacks include G. J.
Johnson of Paxton, David Swanson of Chicago, Harris Gaines, Chicago, Elmer Wilson of Kankakee and Wallace A. Bandy of Marion, Republicans, and Charles Cola of Chicago, John Upchurch of Eldorado and Grover C. Borders of East St.
Louis. Upchurch filed for the senate.

Arthur J. Bidwill of River Forest, Republican senator uneaten in 1935, filed for his old seat while former Senator J. S. Mundy of Marshall, defeated two years ago, tried for the house as a Democrat.

AUDITORIUM THEATRE
CHICAGO

On its opening tour of 100 American cities, the Salzburg Opera Guild, latest importation of S.
Hurok, will be heard at the Chicago Auditorium for the first time in the week opening February 13.
The only matinee will be on the concluding day, February 19.

Five operas will be sung, none of which ever has been given in Chicago, and only two of which ever have been staged in the United States. Only two of the singers have been heard in this country. These have sung only in Los Angeles.

The Guild was organized to specialize in a small number of unusual and unfamiliar operas. There were six months of rehearsals before the first opera was given public performance. In three years the company has won international fame for its presentation of the five operas that will be sung in Chicago. These are:

Così fan Tutte, a comedy by Mozart, sung first in Naples in 1790.

The Poor Sailor, by Darius Mil-haud, a modern French tragedy.
The Coronation of Poppea, by Monteverdi, sung first in 1642 in Vienna.

Angelique, by Ibert a modern comedy.

The Matrimonial Market, by Rossini, written in 1810.

The singers are Italian, Austrian, Russian, Hungarian, Bulgarian, Yugoslavian and Finnish.

The repertoire follows: February

monial Market and Angelique; Feb.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 6.

The Golden Text was, "Grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption" (Ephesians 4:30).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook,
"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:
"In the Bible the word Spirit is so commonly applied to Deity, that Spirit and God are often regarded as synonymous terms, and it is thus they are uniformly used and understood in Christian Science" (p.
344).

15; C. I. C., 15; True Blue, 12; Progressive, 12.

On account of the threatening
